Honorary Professor Inaugural Lecture

Peter-Paul Verbeek is professor of philosophy of technology at the Department of Philosophy and co-director of the DesignLab at the University of Twente, The Netherlands. He is also honorary adjunct professor at the Faculty of Engineering and Science of Aalborg University, Denmark. Verbeek is a member of UNESCO – COMEST (Committee on the Ethics of Science and Technology), of the Dutch Concil for the Humanities, of the Supervisory Board of TNO (Dutch Organization for applied scientific research), of the board of the Rathenau Institute, of the steering committee Responsible Innovation (NWO – Netherlands Organization for Scientific Research), and of the Center for Ethics and Health (Ministry of Health). He is a member of the editorial board of SATS. Journal for Northern Philosophy and of the scientific advisory board of Philosophy & Technology. From 2010 until 2012 he held the Socrates chair at Delft University of Technology. Verbeek is member of the Netherlands Academy of Technology and Innovation and of the Royal Holland Society of Sciences. Between 2013 and 2015 he was President of the Society for Philosophy and Technology; between 2011 and 2013 he was chairman of ‘The Young Academy’, an independent division of the Royal Netherlands Academy of Arts and Sciences. In 2012, he received the Borghgraef Prize (KU Leuven) in biomedical ethics. In 2016, he was awarded the World Technology Award in Ethics.

Programme

16.45 - Inaugural Lecture

After the lecture, there will be held a reception with a variety of beverages and snacks

Date & Location

Thursday, September 7th, 2017, A.C. Meyers Vænge 15, 2450 København SV
Room: Auditorium 1.008

Sign up

Please sign up for the event on this doodle www.doodle.com/poll/ergdhrk9hwaxaxhr
Or by mail at Botin@plan.aau.dk
Techno-Anthropology & Participation Research Group, Department of Planning is pleased to invite you to Honorary Professor Inaugural Lecture.

Our Technological Condition: Techno-Anthropology and the Politics of Technology

Peter-Paul Verbeek is professor of philosophy of technology at the Department of Philosophy and co-director of the DesignLab at the University of Twente, The Netherlands. He is also honorary adjunct professor at the Faculty of Engineering and Science of Aalborg University, Denmark. Verbeek is a member of UNESCO – COMEST (Committee on the Ethics of Science and Technology), of the Dutch Concil for the Humanities, of the Supervisory Board of TNO (Dutch Organization for applied scientific research), of the board of the Rathenau Institute, of the steering committee Responsible Innovation (NWO – Netherlands Organization for Scientific Research), and of the Center for Ethics and Health (Ministry of Health). He is a member of the editorial board of SATS. Journal for Northern Philosophy and of the scientific advisory board of Philosophy & Technology. From 2010 until 2012 he held the Socrates chair at Delft University of Technology. Verbeek is member of the Netherlands Academy of Technology and Innovation and of the Royal Holland Society of Sciences. Between 2013 and 2015 he was President of the Society for Philosophy and Technology; between 2011 and 2013 he was chairman of ‘The Young Academy’, an independent division of the Royal Netherlands Academy of Arts and Sciences. In 2012, he received the Borghgraef Prize (KU Leuven) in biomedical ethics. In 2016, he was awarded the World Technology Award in Ethics.

12.30 - Inaugural Lecture

After the lecture, there will be held a reception with a variety of beverages and snacks

Friday, September 8th, 2017, Rendsburggade 14, 9100 Aalborg
Room: 3.429

Please sign up for the event by mail at this Botin@plan.aau.dk