Summary

Nicola Morelli is Professor at the Department of Architecture, Design and Media Technology (AD:MT) at Aalborg University. He is the director of the Service Design Lab at AAU – CPH. Previously he worked at RMIT University (Australia) and Politecnico di Milano (Italy)

For several years now, he worked on several EU-Funded projects, as project leader or work package coordinator. He also worked on Scandinavian and Danish national research projects.

Nicola Morelli has been working on design for the service sector, focusing on user involvement and co-production, use of open data in service design, design for social innovation and sustainability, methodological aspects and new communication and representation techniques for service design. In his activity, he collaborated with several public and private organisations in Denmark and in Europe.

Hi is a member of the executive board of the Cumulus International Association (2022-2025)
